COLD CHAIN NEWS

CAN YOU REACH THE TEMPERATURE CONTROLLED LOGISTICS INDUSTRY? WE CAN...

Cold Chain News is an editorially independent source of the first and best news about what is happening in the cold chain. The news is conveyed through our high quality, growing and constantly updated database of over 8,500 cold chain professionals every single week.

Cold Chain Federation is a non-profit organisation owned by the companies that make up its membership, all activities and income generated by the Federation is reinvested in research, lobbying and other activities that benefit the cold chain.

Cold Chain News provides advertising and editorial opportunities to businesses that operate within the cold chain industry. We are the voice of the cold chain. Why not join us?

COLD CHAIN NEWS WEEKLY

The weekly news is the heartbeat of the publication's relevance and utility to cold chain professionals. A carefully curated weekly digest of the industry, regulatory and economic news relevant to cold chain, selected and written by experienced logistics journalists. It's a must read for anyone that works in, supplies to, or is otherwise engaged in UK cold chain.

COLD CHAIN NEWS MAGAZINE

This special edition magazine distributed digitally to our whole subscriber database and in print to Cold Chain Federation members is packed with long read features, interviews, coverage of events, first look research and analysis about the cold chain. The introduction of the Quarterly Specials in 2021 saw a five time increase in the readership of the previous magazine. The quarterly carries a regular supplier directory listing the suppliers in Innovator Membership of the CCF.

COLD CHAIN NEWS WEBSITE

The weekly news and quarterly magazines are backed up by the Cold Chain News microsite that is a reference and link back point for our digital and print communications. It includes headline news, long read features, the supplier directory and back editions of the magazine. All organised in an easy to navigate, archived resource of cold chain news, invaluable to everyone involved in the industry.

ADVERTISING OPPORTUNITIES

Advertising opportunities in Cold Chain News are available to the entire Cold Chain industry, however Members gain access to exclusive member rates. Membership of CCF is easy to obtain, affordable and comes with a range of fantastic benefits.

We encourage our advertisers to talk to us about how best to match their marketing and sales objectives with the Federation's many different ways to communicate and engage. We can ensure that you can marry attendance at events, online presentations and advertising/editorial together to get the most impact for your investment.

COLD CHAIN NEWS WEEKLY EMAIL AND WEBSITE

- DISPLAY BANNER – advertising link in body of email, alongside flow of new headlines

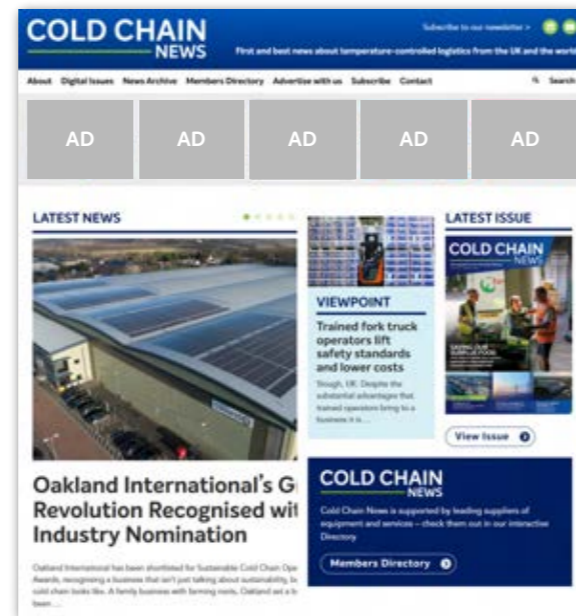

This position is sold in 3 month blocks and any banner booked in the weekly email will also appear on the website for the period of the booking.

COLD CHAIN NEWS MAGAZINE

- DISPLAY BANNER – in a range of sizes and positions you can ensure your brand, service or product launch is seen by decision makers across the cold chain in a title that is not only distributed far and wide, but has a long shelf life of 3 months and beyond with relevant exclusive content every single edition.
- EDITORIAL PARTNERSHIPS – from supplied copy and images to features and interviews written by us, there are a range of opportunities available (subject to editorial quality control).

eSHOTS

We provide limited opportunities for member companies to send dedicated emails to our Cold Chain News Subscriber lists. The number available is strictly limited and subject to tight editorial considerations and a first come first served approval process. To find out more contact rachel@coldchainfed.org.uk.

READERSHIP

Cold Chain News brings together a loyal and longstanding organic readership for the title with the engaged membership of the Cold Chain Federation.

As a result, the title is uniquely placed to reach the chief executives, distribution directors, fleet engineers, warehouse general managers and compliance professionals across all types of cold chain businesses. This includes the leading supermarket chains, manufacturing businesses and third-party logistics businesses.

By bringing together the immediacy and relevance of e-communications in the weekly email and the stickier, long read and reference format of the quarterly special edition magazine, Cold Chain News provides a unique opportunity to get your messages across to decision makers at all levels.

CIRCULATION

Cold Chain News Digital Edition is available free of charge to anyone that subscribes through our online portal and provides us with some key data about them, their business and their reason for subscribing. They also must give us permission to contact them with the newsletter and associated marketing communications. It is also available to view online at coldchainnews.com.

Cold Chain News Print Edition is available to Cold Chain Federation Member companies, allocated according to business size, locations and personal engagement. If you work at a member company and wish to receive a print copy of Cold Chain News please apply by email to info@coldchainfed.org.uk.
